WELCOME

Hometown to hometown.

Thank you for downloading this guide. If you're considering a move to Baker County, or you're already here and trying to figure out the next step, this document is for you. It's the most-asked questions, the things most agents won't tell you, and the rural Florida specifics that aren't covered in any national homebuyer guide.

I've been a Realtor for nearly a decade and have closed transactions across all five Northeast Florida counties. My family roots are deep in Baker County, which is why my buyer education is shaped by what I've seen go wrong in deals here that most agents from Duval or St. Johns simply wouldn't catch.

What you'll find in this guide:

• What Baker County is actually like, told honestly

• The buying process from pre-approval through closing

• Financing nuances that catch first-time and out-of-state buyers

• Septic, well, and floodplain considerations that aren't optional

• Schools, property tax, and the cost-of-ownership math

• The common pitfalls I see, and how to avoid them

• Your buyer's checklist

"Better in Baker." — Local saying, and one I believe.

01 · CHAPTER ONE

About Baker County.

Baker County sits west of Duval, north of Union, east of Columbia, and just south of the Georgia line. Roughly 28,000 people across 585 square miles. Mostly pine forest, pasture, and small communities tied together by river systems and old logging roads.

The three places you'll hear about

Macclenny is the county seat. About 7,300 people. Real downtown, Winn-Dixie + Walmart, hospital is 25 minutes away in Lake City or Jacksonville. Most buyer activity centers here.

Glen St. Mary is the rural side west of Macclenny. Smaller, more land per parcel, agricultural roots. If you want 3 to 20 acres with a barn, this is usually where you end up.

Sanderson is the unincorporated stretches to the northwest. Hunting land, big tracts, true rural quiet. The buyer who picks Sanderson is making a clear lifestyle choice.

Why people choose Baker County

More land for less money than Duval, Clay, or St. Johns. School district where teachers know the kids' names. Real neighbors. Lower property taxes. The ability to actually do what you want on your land without an HOA reviewing your fence.

The tradeoff is honest: longer drives to chain restaurants and big-box stores, fewer entertainment options, and you'll need to plan grocery trips. Most people who move here say within six months they wonder why they waited.

02 · CHAPTER TWO

The Baker County market.

Real estate in Baker County moves differently than in the bigger counties. Inventory is thinner, transactions are smaller in number, and the gap between aspirationally priced and realistically priced listings is the loudest variable in how long anything takes.

Price ranges, plain English

Under $200,000: manufactured homes on land, or older stick-built in town. Sells fast when priced right.

$200,000 to $400,000: the most active band. Stick-built homes on 1 to 5 acres. Properly priced inventory moves in 30 to 60 days.

$400,000 to $600,000: larger homes, more acreage, newer builds. Patient buyers, longer time on market, real demand.

$600,000+: luxury and large-acreage. Sells, but to fewer people. Pricing realism matters.

The pace

Spring (March-May) is the strongest activity window. Summer (June-August) is dominated by PCS military relocations and back-to-school timing. Fall (September-November) is the most balanced quarter. Winter (December-February) is slow except for tax-driven year-end closings and Olustee weekend in February.

If you're buying, my honest recommendation is to start your search in late winter and be ready to write offers in early spring. The best inventory of the year hits the market in late February and March.

03 · CHAPTER THREE

The buying process, step by step.

01 Get pre-approved.
Before you tour any home. A pre-approval letter from a real lender (not a rate calculator) gives you a credible budget and tells sellers you're serious. Plan a week.

02 Get clear on what you want.
Beds, baths, acreage, school zone, commute tolerance, deal-breakers. A 30-minute conversation will narrow your search criteria and save you weeks.

03 Set up a saved MLS search.
I'll set up a custom search that emails you the moment matching properties hit the MLS. Real-time, filtered, not the polluted Zillow feed.

04 Tour and take notes.
We tour. I take detailed notes. We compare on real criteria, not vibes. Most buyers see 5 to 12 properties before they find theirs.

05 Write the offer.
We discuss price strategy, contingencies (inspection, financing, appraisal), earnest money, closing timeline. I draft. You review. We submit.

06 Negotiate.
Counter-offers, terms, repair requests. This is where having an experienced agent matters most. Most deals have at least one moment that requires a steady hand.

07 Inspections.
Home inspection ($400-700). Septic inspection ($300-500). Well water test if applicable. Termite inspection. We review every report together.

08 Appraisal + loan finalization.
Lender orders appraisal. Underwriting works through documents. You provide anything they ask, fast. Plan 2-3 weeks.

09 Final walk-through.
Day-of or day-before closing. We verify the property is in agreed condition, all repairs done, everything that should stay is staying.

10 Close.
Sign at title company. Wire the down payment + closing costs (NEVER wire to an email instruction). Get the keys. Welcome home.

WIRE FRAUD WARNING

Read this before you close.

Real estate wire fraud is one of the most common and devastating scams in the industry. Criminals intercept email communication between buyers, agents, and title companies, then send fake wiring instructions that route your closing funds to their account.

The rule that protects you

Never wire money based on instructions you received by email. Always confirm wire instructions by calling the title company at a phone number you independently looked up (not a number from the email), and verbally verifying the routing and account numbers before you initiate the wire.

Once your money leaves your bank, it is essentially impossible to recover. Wire fraud victims have lost their entire down payment with no chance of getting it back. Five minutes on the phone confirming instructions saves $50,000 to $200,000 of risk.

> "I will tell every client this in person at least three times before closing. If a wire transfer is happening, you call the title company yourself."

04 · CHAPTER FOUR

Financing in Baker County.

Most home loans available nationally also work in Baker County, but the rural and agricultural nature of the area opens up a few options that don't apply in Duval or St. Johns.

Loan types worth knowing

Conventional: standard 5-20% down, broad availability, works on most stick-built homes.

FHA: 3.5% down, more flexible credit, popular with first-time buyers. Property must meet HUD condition standards.

VA: 0% down for eligible veterans. Strong option around NAS Jax and Mayport. Property must pass VA appraisal standards.

USDA Rural Development: 0% down, income limits apply, property must be in a USDA-eligible rural area. Most of Baker County qualifies. Powerful and often-overlooked here.

Manufactured / mobile home loans: specialty lenders. The home must usually be on a permanent foundation and titled with the land. Not every conventional lender does these, but several local ones do. I have intros.

The local lender advantage

I have a short list of lenders who actually answer the phone, understand rural loans, and don't get scared by septic systems. Ask me for the list. There's no fee for the intro and I do not take referral kickbacks.

05 · CHAPTER FIVE

Septic and well, plainly.

Most rural Baker County properties are on septic systems and well water, not city utilities. This is normal and fine, but it requires specific inspections that city-utility buyers don't have to think about.

What you need to inspect

Septic inspection: $300-500. A pump-out plus full inspection of the drain field, tank, and baffles. The seller often pays for this, but if not, do not skip it. A failed septic system is a $5,000-25,000 repair.

Well water test: $50-200 depending on scope. Tests for bacteria, nitrates, hardness, and contaminants. Required by most lenders. Treatment systems are common and reasonable.

Well pump and pressure tank: ask the inspector to verify age and condition. Replacement is $1,500-3,500 if needed.

Questions to ask the seller

When was the septic last pumped? Have you had any backups? How old is the well? Has the water been tested in the last year? Are there any easements or shared-well agreements with neighbors?

If a seller hesitates on any of these, that's information. We adjust the offer accordingly.

06 · CHAPTER SIX

Floodplains and insurance.

Baker County has multiple creek systems and the Saint Marys River along the northern border. A meaningful chunk of rural land sits in or near a FEMA-designated floodplain. Verify before you fall in love.

Pull the FEMA flood map

I pull the FEMA flood determination on every property before we write an offer. You can also check yourself at msc.fema.gov by entering the address.

Zone X is the safe zone (no flood insurance required by lenders). Zones A, AE, and AH require flood insurance with a mortgage, and the premium ranges from $500 to $4,000+ annually depending on elevation and structure.

The bigger insurance picture

Florida homeowner's insurance has been volatile. Some carriers have stopped writing new policies. Get a real quote from at least two carriers before you remove your inspection contingency, not after.

If you're buying in a flood zone, factor the flood insurance premium into your monthly payment calculation. An extra $200/month in insurance is real money over 30 years.

07 · CHAPTER SEVEN

Schools demystified.

Baker County has one unified school district covering the entire county. Every student eventually feeds into Baker County High School. This makes school-zone shopping simpler here than in Duval, Clay, or St. Johns.

The five schools

Westside Elementary: K-4, serves Glen St. Mary, Sanderson, and western Macclenny.

Macclenny Elementary: K-4, serves central and eastern Macclenny.

Macclenny VI: 5th and 6th. All county kids transition here.

Baker County Middle School: 7th and 8th.

Baker County High School: 9th-12th. The Wildcats. Friday night football is the loudest cultural event of the week.

School-zone reality

Because everyone feeds into the same middle and high schools, your only school-driven decision is which elementary zone you want. That makes house-hunting simpler. Pick the area that fits your life; the long-term school path is the same.

Out-of-zone transfers within the district are possible on a space-available basis. Apply early, don't assume.

08 · CHAPTER EIGHT

Property tax basics.

Florida property tax is calculated by multiplying assessed value by the millage rate. Baker County's combined millage typically runs 17-19 mills, noticeably lower than Duval. That's part of why people move here.

The exemptions that matter

Homestead Exemption: $50,000 off assessed value if it's your primary residence. Apply by March 1. This is the big one.

Save Our Homes cap: after year one of homestead, assessed value can rise no more than 3% per year. This is why long-time owners have lower tax bills than recent buyers in the same neighborhood.

Agricultural classification: common in rural Baker County. Land actively used for farming, forestry, or livestock can be assessed at agricultural value instead of market value. Substantial tax savings, but requires application and ongoing verification.

Veterans, senior, widow, disabled: additional exemptions for qualifying applicants. Worth asking about.

Estimate your bill before you buy

(Estimated assessed value - $50,000 homestead) × millage rate ÷ 1,000 = annual tax. Add 5-10% for non-ad-valorem fees (fire district, solid waste). That's your realistic year-one bill. After that, Save Our Homes caps it.

09 · CHAPTER NINE

Common pitfalls.

Mistakes I see often enough that they made this list:

Buying without confirming road access

Some rural properties access via dirt roads, shared driveways, or easements crossing other parcels. The title commitment will tell you. Read it. I have seen deals where the easement language was the actual reason a buyer walked.

Falling in love before the inspection

Emotion is the enemy of negotiation. Walk every property like a stranger. Take photos of concerns. Read the inspection report with a level head.

Forgetting to budget for the well + septic

Plan $1,000-2,000 in inspection costs alone if you're buying rural. Plus the ongoing ownership: septic pump-out every 3-5 years, water filter replacements, well pump every 15-20 years.

Trusting a Zestimate

Zillow estimates use algorithms that don't know your kitchen, your specific street, or the comparable sales nearby. They are sometimes 10-20% off either direction. Always pull a real CMA.

Wire fraud (worth repeating)

Never wire money based on email instructions. Confirm by phone, every time.

10 · CHAPTER TEN

Your buyer's checklist.

Before you tour:

[ ] Pre-approval letter from a real lender

[ ] Clear list of must-haves vs. nice-to-haves

[ ] Saved MLS search set up with your criteria

[ ] Budget worksheet including taxes + insurance + utilities

On every tour:

[ ] Check water pressure, run all faucets

[ ] Look under every sink for leaks or stains

[ ] Test outlets in main rooms

[ ] Walk the property line if rural

[ ] Ask about septic age, well age, roof age, HVAC age

[ ] Note any smells (mold, mildew, sewage, smoke)

Before writing the offer:

[ ] Pull FEMA flood determination

[ ] Check the property tax history online

[ ] Confirm school zone with the district

[ ] Get insurance quotes from two carriers

[ ] Review comparable sales (CMA from Amanda)

During inspections:

[ ] Home inspection scheduled within 5-7 days of offer

[ ] Septic inspection scheduled separately

[ ] Well water test if applicable

[ ] Termite inspection

[ ] Review every report with Amanda before requesting repairs

Before closing:

[ ] Final walk-through 24 hours before

[ ] Wiring instructions verified BY PHONE

[ ] Photo ID + cashier's check for any closing costs

[ ] Utilities scheduled to transfer day of closing

[ ] Forwarded mail set up

NEXT STEPS

Let's talk.

If you've made it this far, you're serious. That's the kind of buyer I work best with: people who do their homework, ask the questions, and want a real conversation rather than a sales pitch.

There's no obligation to anything. Call, text, or email and we'll talk through what you're thinking. Whether you're 6 months out or 6 weeks out, the first conversation is the same. Honest, plain, no pressure.
